"If I'm lucky I will find a pearl inside!"

But what was a party without any food?

He decided to go upstairs one night and steal a single oyster from the people's feast.

"If people come to my party, they will have something to eat when they arrive, and I will fashion the treasure into a beautiful chandelier for them to admire too."