Artist Statement

Ordinary objects hold value in their constant use, familiarity, and their associations in our lives. I combine everyday objects with humor to investigate the human condition and man's shared experiences. Communities utilize consistent archetypes to connect individuals together. I use modern interpretations of these throughlines to continue this practice. I explore human connection in the age of advanced machines, nostalgia for a childhood without said technology, and the implications of a future reliant on it. I hope that through these investigations, the viewer can consider what unifies us as members of the same community
