

dear my friends,

hey, it's "ho:n": how's it going? i'm not ungood!
how was the semester party! that was fun!!!
did you get home safe? 😊

i heard that "re-minimalism" is coming, actually that's what i named. 😊 well, you know that i like "jackson pollock" and

"frank stella" as historical milestone painters.
as we know, "abstract expressionism" emerged after the war, but that contained political surroundings, and was also, too involved in emotional reflections from the "dominant - atmosphere". now we know that, right?

do you notice what i'm saying? i think the flow nowadays is quite similar to the trigger of why "minimalism" appeared back in the day.

don't want me to tell every single thing in detail,
i wanna beat around the bushes now, bc, it's too tragic to tell. 😞

You know? I totally agree that art can be a tool being reflected in the "dominant-atmosphere", bc, even now i'm living a foreigner's life, no one's able to deny that's importance.

but still, sometimes, didn't we have a dream in our „Wunderkammer“ from our deep subconscious?

i meant to say a "trigger" that why we began studying "art" instead of money-making majors.

i meant we need to find out the ultra clear reason why we're in "hfg" without saying "just we wanted it" or "for recovering ourselves" or "something like that."

i hope you don't get me wrong, i just wanted to make it clear for myself.

recently, i'm thinking maybe i was waiting for this moment — i mean "re-minimalism" — that "art" can be "art" itself and "we" can be "ourselves" even though "art" and "we" might be blamed it's elitist.

when was "pureness" stigmatized? when did we begin feeling uncomfy about this term?

we know that "pureness" and this "pureness" aren't the same. don't we?

i meant, i'm saying i'm not gonna write my "personal diary" through my "job" under the name of "art" anymore.

you know? we know, this harsh reality that we're trying to stand on made us do "personal diary."

if we need therapy, let's visit experts together.

by the way, back to the "re-minimalism".

i guess re-minimalism's arrival might take about 10-15 years.

i don't wanna be, but i would be somewhat poor and naive as now i am.

but, the thing that i wanted to say again is — we might have been waiting for it already, and, at some point, we've totally forgotten that, somehow, somehow, somehow.

i wish i will have a high responsibility that treats "art" as like high criteria in terms of a "job." are you on the same page with me? bc, we're besties, aren't we? 😊

then, see you at seminar!

"ho, n" xx
