Project Coordinatator | Creative Director | Fashion Stylist

about me

I'm a recent graduate with a strong foundation in creative direction, project coordination, and visual storytelling. With a background in fashion styling and brand development, I've worked on creative campaigns, editorial productions, and high-touch client experiences across both creative and service-oriented roles.

I'm looking to join a brand or agency where I can bring creative problem-solving, organization, and visual sensibility to the table, whether supporting content teams, assisting creative directors, or helping execute projects from concept to delivery. Open to opportunities in fashion, interiors, beauty, branding, or any industry that values aesthetics and innovation.
