CV

2012 - 2014 - Photographer and Photo Editor at Documenting Yes

My role was to manage a team of 10+ photographers covering the events of the Yes campaign for Scottish Independence. I managed and archived a daily submission of photographs making them available to national and international publications and organizations. The full body of work can now be found as a permanent collection in the national library of Scotland.

2014 - 2018 - Photographer to The First Minister of Scotland

My role was to document the activities of the First Minister of Scotland during campaigns and deliver these images to the party HQ. More often than not I delivered images within minutes of taking them providing a near real time documentation of the days events.

2019 - Present Day - Director of Rare Scotland LTD

RARE Scotland is a commercial production company that provides photo and video production services to businesses, brands and organizations allowing them to clearly and effectively communicate their own products and services. My role is in day to day operations, hiring of skilled professionals, hands on production of projects, photo and video camera operation and client delivery.

Other Experience

I have also worked as a wedding photographer, freelance commercial photographer / videographer and a photojournalist. I have skills in fast turn around, efficient archiving and various types of software related to photography and video work and telling accurate and captivating stories.
