

Dear Hiring Manager,

I hope this message finds you well. I am writing to wholeheartedly endorse Trey Heine for any leadership or strategic role he pursues. My name is Chris Amador. I'm the CTO/Head of Product at Vendoo (YC W22), and I've had the pleasure of working with Trey. He has shown he's a valuable team member, demonstrating a great mix of intelligent thinking and hard work.

At Vendoo, as Lead Product Manager, Trey made significant contributions. Navigating the rapidly changing needs of a startup is not easy, but Trey consistently met every challenge with an open mindset and dependability. He played an instrumental role in researching, designing, and releasing some of our crucial features. It's no overstatement that his work has contributed to the significant growth of our B2C efforts.

Beyond his technical expertise and strategic thinking, Trey excels in interpersonal communication. He combines soft and hard skills, navigating the technical and human side of product development. Whether integrating with developers, ideating product recommendations with designers, talking with users, or leading cross-functional team meetings, Trey can operate at a high level.

If you'd like more insights into Trey's accomplishments at Vendoo, please do not hesitate to reach out. I am confident that in him, you will find a great professional to drive success in your team.

Thank you for your time and consideration,

Chris Amador CTO/Head of Product

chris@vendoo.co