Big Mike has a lot of stories to tell.

Michael “Big Mike” Saviello (b. 1970) managed the iconic New York institution called Astor Place Hairstylists for over 40 years. When he wasn’t on the styling floor, he was using the basement’s back broom closet as an art studio. Go get your hair cut in this legend of a New York barbershop and see it for yourself, the work is on every wall.

This collection of 44 paintings features iconic characters from Botticelli, Michelangelo, Vermeer, van Gogh, Monet, Degas, and other masters. Saviello often replaces faces with those of familiar figures or personal acquaintances, making a body of work that is as much about individuals as the subjects they portray.

By merging figures from across epochs, Saviello creates new meanings from their classic poses and expressions. His fusion of timeless symbols with urban mythology is shaped by both his deep love for the works that inspire him and his self-taught approach. This method renders archetypes accessible to his audience—the barbers and clients who frequent his gallery, bringing their stories along with them.

His works brim with humor, warmth, and significance, blending art history with the art of everyday life. Vivid storytelling, dynamic layered compositions, and his masterful use of acrylic as sculptural texture result in paintings that are both playfully direct and uniquely New York.
