The Kurdish resistance is advocating for women’s equality, LGBTQIA rights, ecology, sustainability, and democratic confederalism.

Contributed to Sonic Resistance, a 90-track compilation supporting the feminist movement in Northern Syria. Released by Oramics and Kashev Tapes, the project raises awareness of the Kurdish freedom movement and donates all proceeds to the ‘Foundation of the Free Woman in Rojava’ (Weqfa Jina Azad A Rojava). «The erotic is not a question of what we do alone, it is a question of how acutely, how fully we feel in the doing. For once we know the extent to which we are capable of feeling that sense of satisfaction, that sense of fullness, that sense of completion, we can then observe, which of our various life endeavours bring us closest to that fullness. (....) The erotic gives us the power to change things in the world.»

@ ART BASEL

ORGANTEMPLE is a music, art & performance collective based in Zurich Switzerland. In a collaborative process the organ temple site is home for the psychedelic, trance-inducing new age rituals of the constantly evolving group. The site of the hibernetic performances take place under a pyramidal copper dome that also is, analog to the construction of archaic pyramidal structures, build up constantly to become a monument of free, non-consumerist creation.

I stand at the intersection of many communities: musician, artist queer, feminist, spiritual, environmental activist, anarchist, psychedelic science, myco therapy, and as a witch i can live all those identities at the same time.

My art is a ritual, exploring sound and consciousness, influenced by transdimensional communication. Through music, witchcraft, and technopaganism, I strive to blur the lines between the physical and metaphysical, inviting listeners on a transformative journey that bridges ancestral wisdom with modern insight. My global performances, including recent showcases at the BIENNALE and Kunsthaus Zürich, reflect this mission.

A few years ago, we brought together various actors from the alternative electronic music scene and autonomous club culture to establish the VAZEM collective. VAZEM operates based on an ethical charta. The main project of our collective is the RHIZOM Festival. The RHIZOM Festival is a non-profit event that places a high value on equality, diversity, awareness, and—of course—excellent electronic music. We like to experiment with various forms of dramaturgy and staging, involving all participants and various collaborations. We think RHIZOM is a fantastic indoor and outdoor festival with exciting people, a creative atmosphere, cultural and political engagements, and performances that bring together local and international artists.
