About

I'm a graphic designer and student at Yale. I love typography, motion graphics, and design systems. Before studying graphic design, I practiced blackletter calligraphy, to which I owe my interest in typography and lettering. Much of my professional experience involves designing for artists, including Jeffrey Gibson, Mickalene Thomas, and Joel Mesler, as well as with arts organizations, including Sotheby's, Christie's, and the IFPDA. I've worked as a graphic design intern for Irma Boom Office, Mickalene Thomas Studio, and Hyperallergic.
