

Emma Slack-Jørgensen

MA Candidate at The New School

Biography

I am a dedicated content creator and writer, with a BA in economics from McGill University and an MA in publishing and journalism from The New School. Throughout my professional journey, I have collaborated with prestigious magazines and journals, showcasing my skills as both a writer and editor. As an ambitious individual, I am presently engaged in the co-founding of a groundbreaking magazine, generously supported by The New School. My unwavering commitment, meticulous approach, and enthusiasm for intellectual growth drive me to seek out challenging opportunities.

Education

- 2022-2023 Masters Degree
The New School For Social Research
Creative Publishing and Critical Journalism
Awards: Merit-based scholarship and MA Project Grant (2022 and 2023)
- 2017-2021 Bachelors Degree
McGill University
Economics and Philosophy

Experience

2023

Emerging Critic

Public Seminar

- Participated in weekly meetings with the editorial staff
- Collaborated closely with James Miller, the esteemed editor
- Authored articles focusing on cultural impacts within the literary and performing arts
- Contributed to the critical discourse within the academic journal
- Enhanced analytical and writing skills through the examination of cultural phenomena

Content Strategist

S'more

- Conducting research on content strategies that boost outreach and user engagement
- Part of college outreach program involving planning acquisition of new users under the college demographic
- Planning and posting five pieces of content every week that reflect S'more's values and adheres to our posting guidelines
- Provide regular consulting on S'more's content and workshopping content strategy

2022-present

Managing Editor and Co-Founder

Dough Magazine

- Spearhead the conceptualization and development of the magazine, establishing a distinct editorial vision and voice.
- Oversee the entire editorial process, ensuring high-quality content and engaging storytelling.
- Lead a team of writers, editors, and designers, fostering a collaborative environment to achieve exceptional editorial outcomes.
- Successfully secured The New School Fall 2022 MA Project Grant, acknowledging the magazine's innovation and impact.

2019-2022

FQA and Back Editor

Transperfect

- Ensured the linguistic accuracy and formatting precision of translated content.
- Demonstrated meticulous attention to detail, spotting and rectifying syntactical errors, ambiguous translations, and agreement inconsistencies.
- Assumed responsibility for ensuring the accuracy and consistency of formatting, adhering to established guidelines and client specifications.
- Collaborated closely with translation teams and project managers to deliver high-quality and error-free translations.
- Maintained a strong understanding of linguistic nuances and cultural context to ensure accurate and contextually appropriate translations.

2019

Writing and Editorial Intern

Copenhagen Institute for Futures Studies

- Published three self-authored articles focusing on economics and politics in Scandinavia, including an in-depth 8-page research piece on the exportability of the "Nordic Model."
- Conducted interviews with subject matter experts, gathering valuable insights and perspectives to enhance the quality of published content.
- Edited the work of professional journalists, ensuring accuracy, clarity, and adherence to editorial guidelines.
- Contributed to members' reports by providing well-researched and insightful analysis on emerging trends and future scenarios.

Skills

Technical

- Wordpress
- InDesign
- Javascript and Python
- MS Office Suite
- Google Suite
- Adobe Suite
- Statistical data analysis
- SEO
- Google Analytics

Writing

- In-depth feature writing
- Interviewing
- Culture analysis and critique
- Economic and political analysis
- Proficient editing skills
- Investigative reporting
- Multimedia storytelling
- Cross-cultural competence

Personal

- Native English and Danish speaker
- Creative vision
- Strong communication
- Analytical thinking
- Adaptability
- Detail-oriented
- Organisation and time management
- Enthusiasm for learning
- Collaboration and teamwork
- Cultural awareness