Xiaoer Liu works across performances, video, installation, and drawing. Her works explore human trauma and social problems, where she draws inspiration from triggering phenomena found in daily life. By linking artistic works and psychological autonomy, she deconstructs the manipulative patterns of narcissism in a capitalist society. In addition, her works can be seen as a rebellion against patriarchy and bureaucracy, casting light on human rights and female autonomy. Liu has spent her last 11 years studying Fine Arts in China, France, and Germany, while hosting and participating in a large number of exhibitions, film screenings, performance festivals, and interviews worldwide. In 2021, she won The Project Competition of the Women Funding of Udk. In 2023, she became a member of the Professional Association of Visual Artists in Berlin.
