Marta is a beauty photographer inspired by the powerful essence of femininity - its strength, sensuality, and inherent contradictions. Drawn to beauty on the edge of discomfort, her work challenges conventional ideals, exploring its non-obvious, rebellious forms. Through skin texture, wetness, smudges, and rough edges, she wants the viewer to feel like they're witnessing something intimate — not just consuming a polished picture.

She crafts every image with intention, balancing precision with spontaneity. Beauty, to Marta, is most compelling when it resists the conventional sense of perfection.

Originally from Warsaw, now based in NYC, she is available for commercial and editorial assignments worldwide. Fluent in four languages and has an undying love for Argentinian trap.
