

Spencer Barnes

I'm a visual artist based in London. My skill set covers a broad range, from video editing to professional studio man-agement, darkroom techniques, and film development. Adaptability is a strong suit of mine; I thrive working in high stress hands on jobs. I also have over five years in the hospitality industry therefore I am comfortable providing high level customer service to new and existing customers.

I have considerable experience assisting artists in studio settings and have a solid background in working with analogue photography, including 8mm Cine film.
