

SOMETHING IN THE RAIN

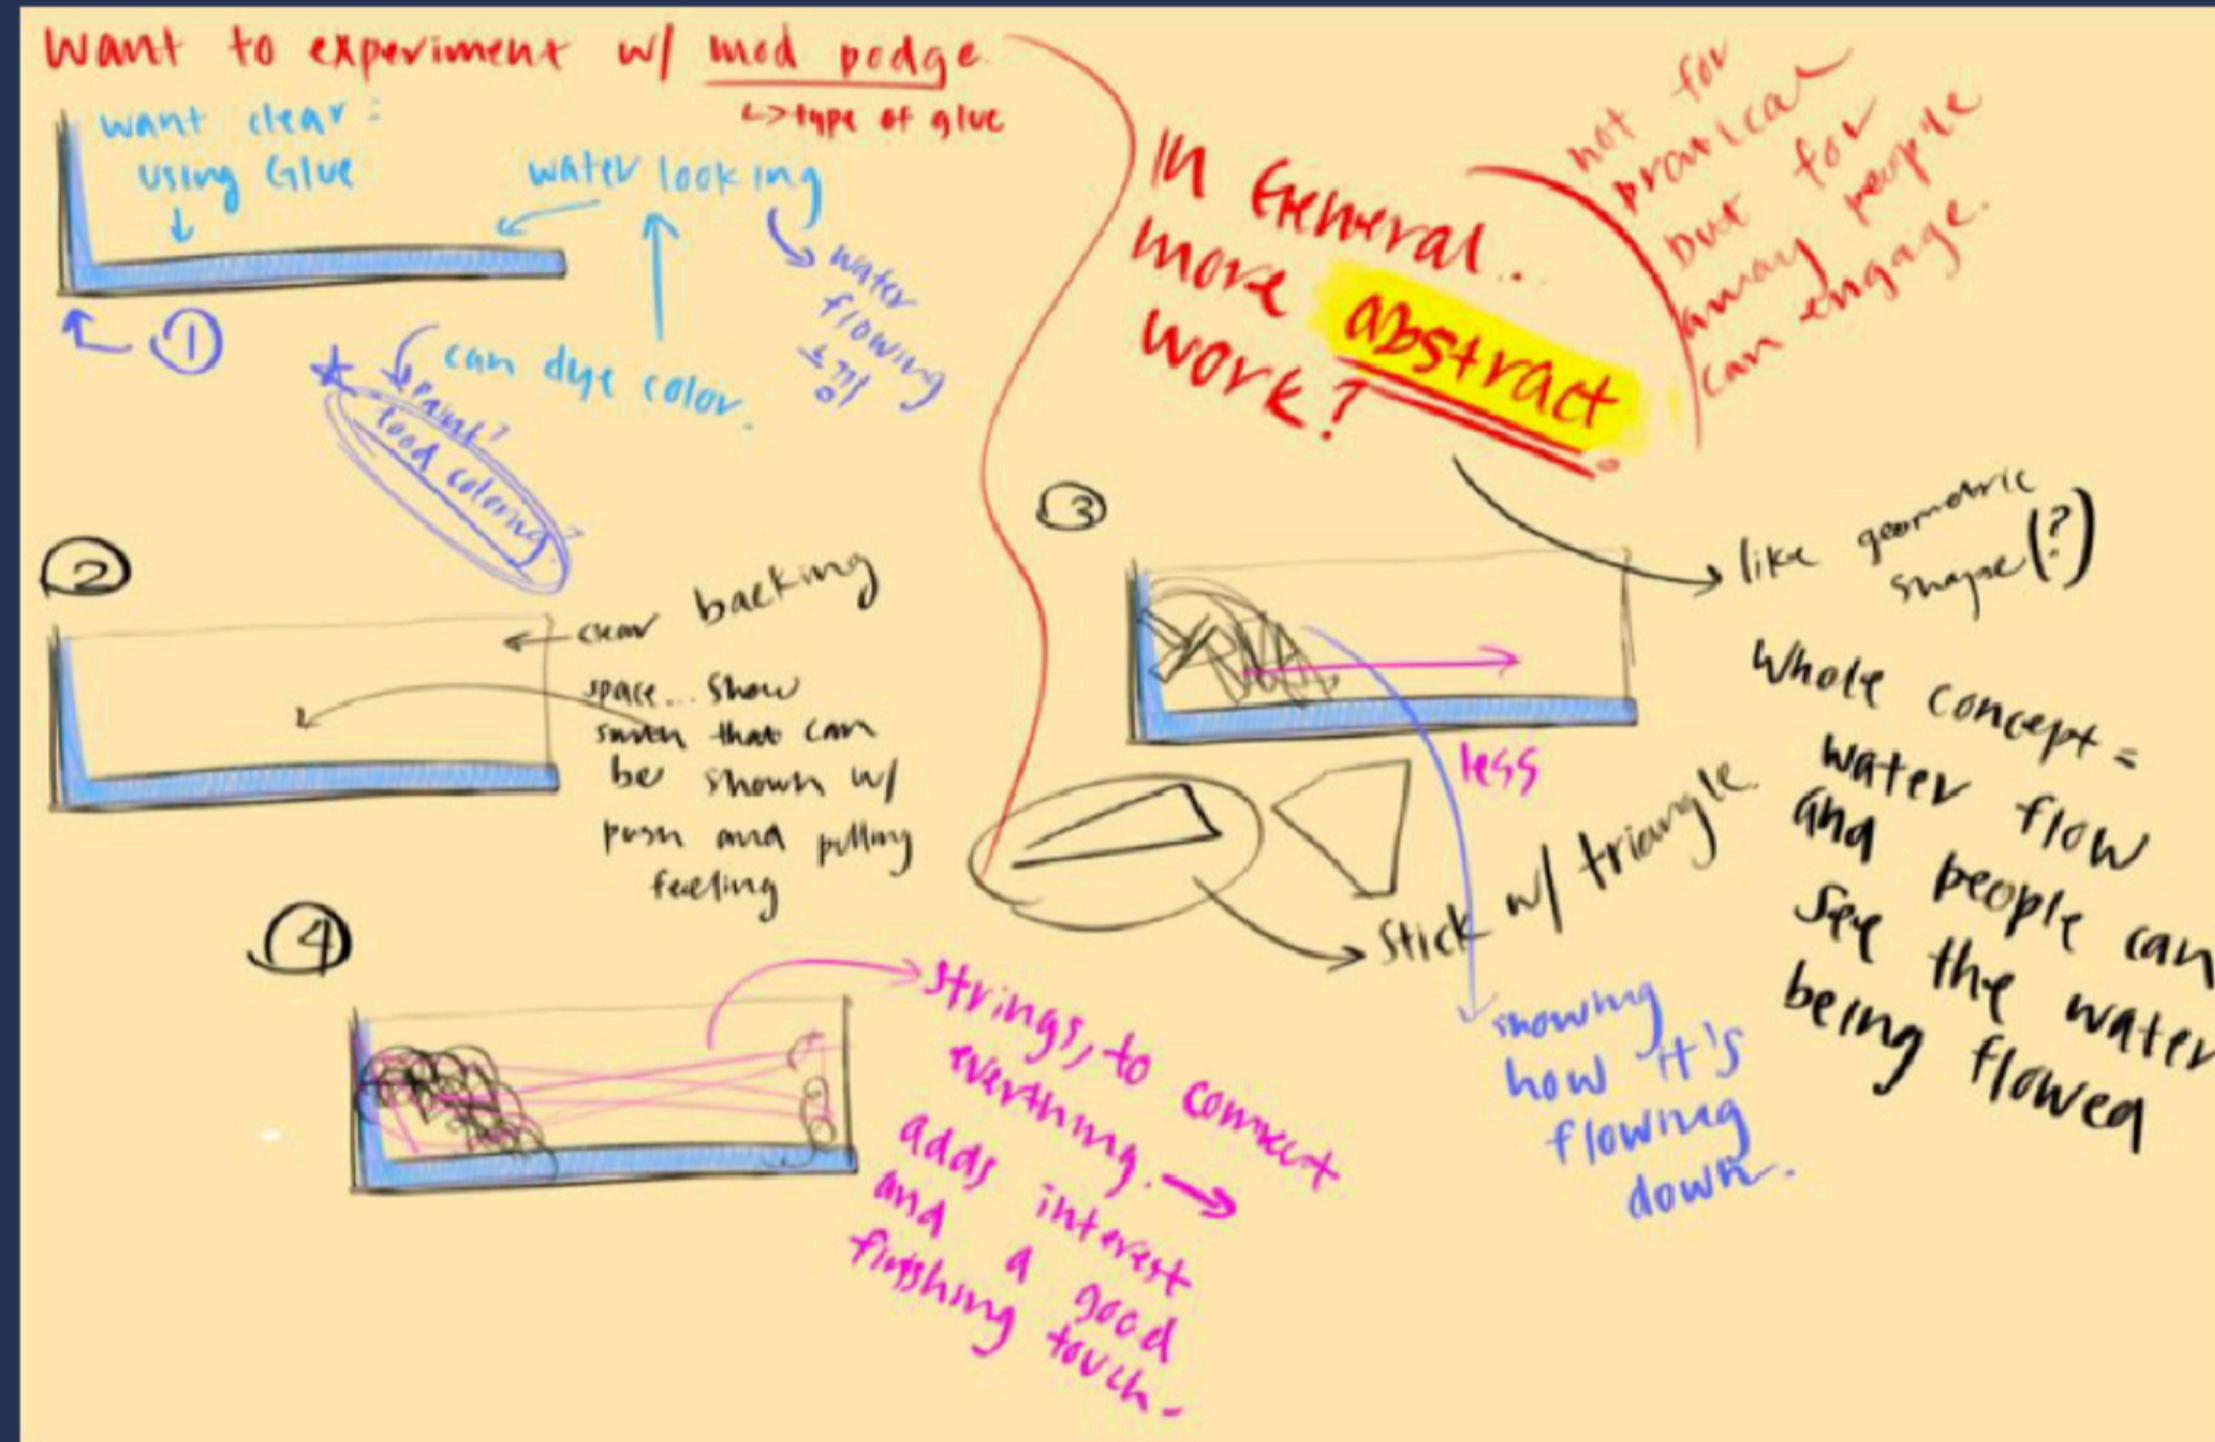

(INSPIRATION, PROCESS, FINAL OUTCOME)

BY: YOONA OH

INSPIRATION

The art piece I created is a representation of human-centered design.

BRAINSTORM:

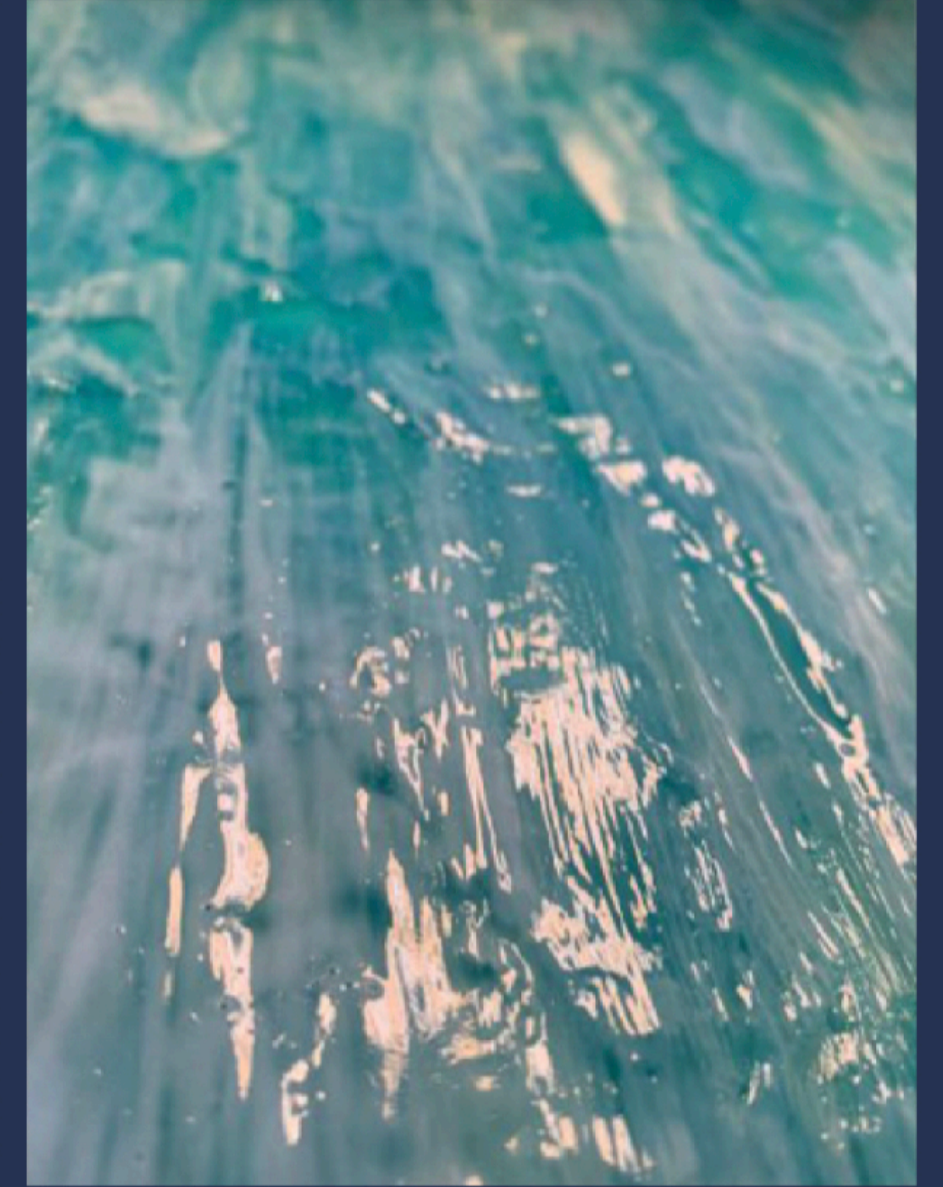

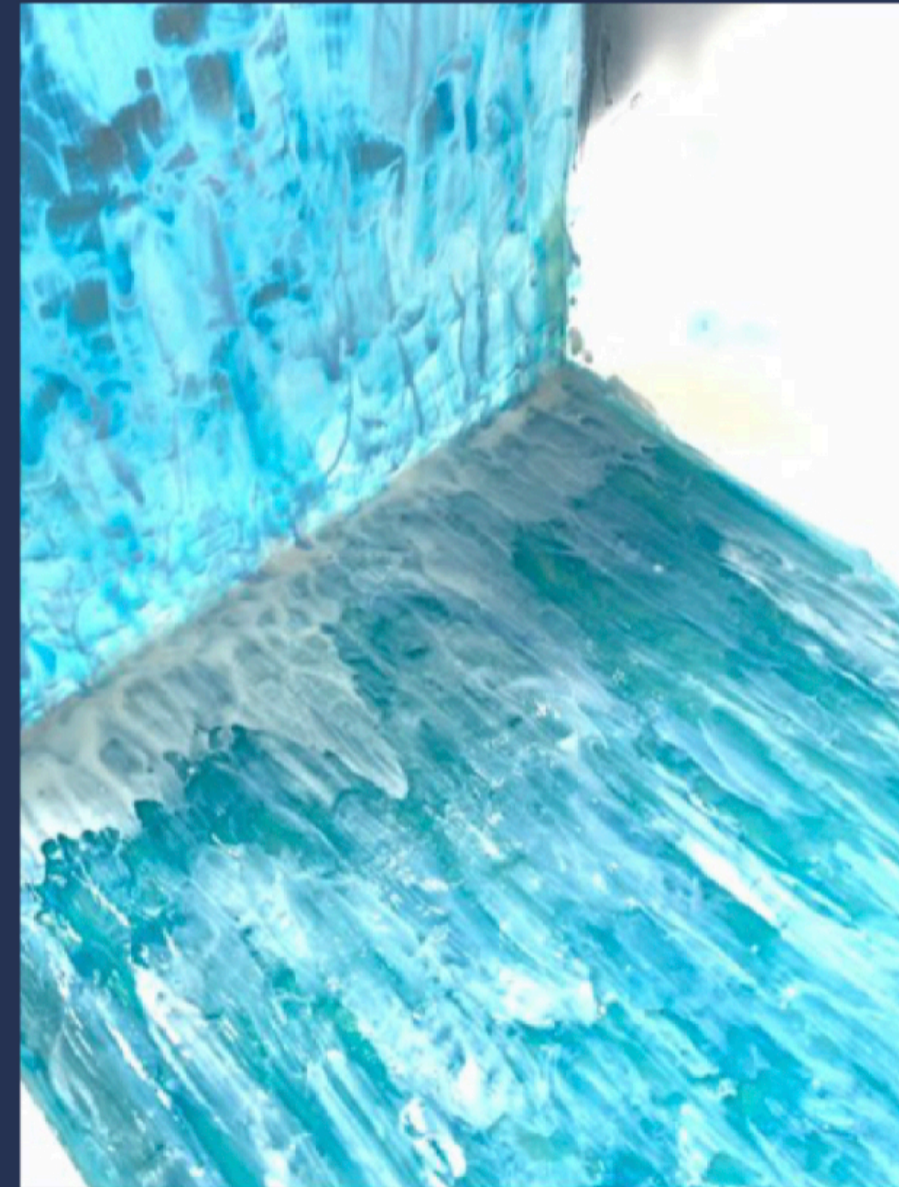

My inspiration comes from fond memories of my hometown, Seattle, where the nonstop rain always brings peace and comfort. With this project, I wanted to create a space where others could experience the same environment and relaxation.

PROCESS

I experimented with various techniques to create a satisfying outcome.
For the water/rain effect, I used Mod Podge glue mixed with blue food coloring.
The glue dries clear, making it more realistic.

WORK IN PROGRESS:

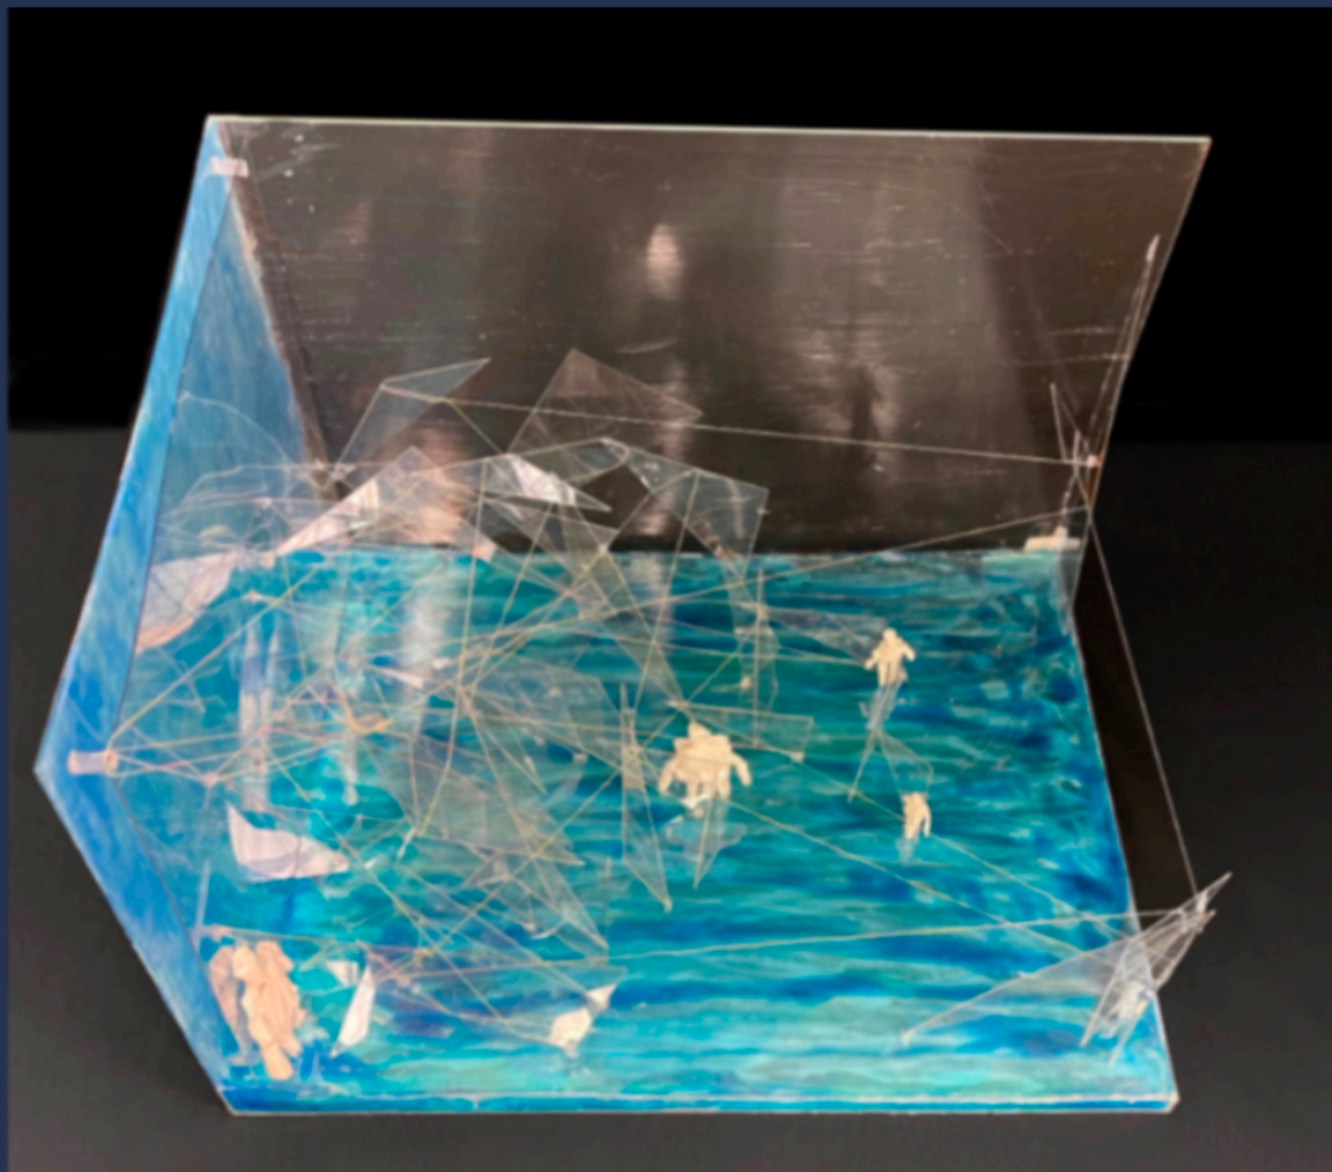

The best technique I learned is to apply thin layers of Mod Podge with a mix of shades of blue.

FINAL OUTCOME

Surrounded by an everlasting experience, feel connected as the rain rushes below your feet.

Allow yourself to be captivated by the dreamlike ambiance of this abstract setting.

Experience the same feeling as seeing your reflection in the rain...
