"Hide and Seek" is a 3D animated short film that takes viewers on a bittersweet journey. It presents a story of a person hiding their queer identity from their parents at different stages of life.

The film highlights the struggles faced by the queer community as they grow up and explores the fantasy of queer spaces with queer phenomenology.

In this film, Dinggo collaborates with the dance artist Qiyun Zheng. They used motion capture technology to bring voguing dance into the 3D world, capturing the diverse poses of the queer community.

In this project, human taste formation is delineated as a passive phenomenon, subject to the sway of the consumerist industrial taste ensnarement.

Employing Touch Designer as a medium, data visualizations were crafted to elucidate the impact of four distinct flavors on the cerebral cortex.

The amalgamation of saccharin, glutamate, salt, fat, and sundry additives transmutes refined sustenance into an alluring "substance" that captivates the neural faculties.

In this magazine, public laundry is employed as a medium to create a space for dialogue among individuals with diverse social identities, statuses, and cultures.

Through the act of washing and mingling clothes, the objective is to facilitate dialogue, fostering the dismantling of personal biases and cultural barriers.
