A brief hello*

I'm a product (design) kind of guy...any Vulfpeck fans? I currently live in Brooklyn and work at Oak Studios. My role on an intimate team of 6 involves touching every part of the projects that come to our studio. I love the fact that I've been able to use my creativity and design knowledge to create everything from design systems, to websites, GitHub commits, copywriting, and literally everything in between. I'm hoping to join a community of like minded individuals that thrive in a world of short feedback loops, cool collaboration, and encourage each other to grow to be better for themselves and the product each and every day.

Work(ing) history

Oak Studios

✉ Multi-disciplinary designer 2019 – present

✉ Intern from Nov 2018 – Feb 2019

I lead the design process from concept to execution, collaborating closely with devs on my team and clients to ensure integration of design into product development. I have strong organizational skills and create clean functional Figma files with up to date components. I have designed and successfully launched client websites, such as Shared Future in addition to features used on our own productivity tool, Dropmark.
