

PLASMIC

electro-synth pop
for the 21st century!

Emblematically fuchsia-clad and musically fierce, Plasmic is the electro vocalist, producer, and keytar - shredding artist of the 21st century. Their sound and performance are profoundly emotive, balancing tenderness and turmoil in nearly equal measure. Their music is showcased through an avant-garde glamour that boldly proclaims to the universe power, joy, and pain alike. Plasmic embraces cutting-edge music-making technology, channeling influences from artists like DEVO, Peaches, and Fever Ray.

Born and raised in Hollywood CA, Plasmic's musical journey began at the age of four, when they first covered Britney Spears' "Lucky" at a Radio Disney Mall contest. Self-taught on the piano, their original goal was to join a band. However, after discovering their own voice and finding new purpose in performing alone, they shifted focus to lead their own creative journey. Through and through, Plasmic represents being fully and authentically yourself, even when at first you may not believe it!
