> I didn't think podcasts could feel this personal. I picked a soft spoken narrator, set the mood to 'late-night reflection,' and even added a few links and articles I'd been thinking about. The AI wove them into the episode like it had read my mind. It's like Spotify meets therapy meets sci-fi radio. Can't go back to regular podcasts now.

> It's wild. I dropped in a couple of YouTube links and a Medium article, chose a moody jazz vibe, and the AI turned it into this smooth, thoughtful episode that felt like a late-night conversation. It's not just listening anymore — it's co-creating.

> I wasn't sure what to expect, but I uploaded a few links from a research project and picked a calm voice with ambient sounds. The result? A podcast episode that felt like it was guiding me through my own thoughts. Super weird, super cool.
