A close-up photograph of a newborn baby's feet and hands. The baby is lying under a thick, grey, ribbed knit blanket. The feet are positioned in the lower center, with the toes pointing towards the viewer. The hands are visible above the feet, with fingers slightly curled. The background consists of white and light blue fabric, possibly a hospital gown or a bedsheet, with some colorful striped patterns visible on the right side. The overall tone is soft and intimate.
