

Eduardo Plasencia Tapia

I was born in Gran Canaria in 1998. I've always had diverse interests, and when something captures my attention, I can't stop exploring it further. I specialize in interaction design and graphic design. I enjoy seeking diverse influences within the design world and undertaking projects to their fullest extent possible. I consider myself a very social person with a broad problem-solving ability. On the other hand, I live in continuous learning and training to further educate myself in a world that fascinates me, design.
