

A twisted, monstrous cage that strips away your very essence. Individuality is a myth, a lost relic buried beneath layers of sameness.
We are ghosts, echoes of one another, as our identities meld into singularity dictated by cold algorithms