

The Weird Pantheon of Masha Msky Vernissage

Join us for the "The Weird Pantheon", showcasing the creative work of the talented Masha Msky!

When: Wednesday, 6th November, 18:00 - 22:00

Where: Denizen Eiswerk

About the event

Vernissage: "The Weird Pantheon"

"The Weird Pantheon" represents the artist Masha Msky's exploration of subconscious images and symbols shaped by personal experiences and surrounding events. Embracing her unique, "weird" artistic vision, Masha delves into the strange and fantastical, creating a collection of quintessential characters that continues to grow with each new insight, experience, or trauma.

This pantheon of odd and surreal figures invites viewers to engage with their own interpretations, sparking reflection or even laughter. Some may recognize elements of themselves, while others encounter embodiments of the artist's introspective journey. Masha welcomes you to explore and interact with this ever-evolving collection, where the bizarre becomes beautifully thought-provoking.

About the host

Masha Msky (aka tootooweird) - Mixed Media Artist

Born into a Russian-Jewish-Greek family in Moscow, Masha Msky's artistic journey has been shaped by her diverse cultural background and life experiences, spanning seven years in Jerusalem and now residing in Berlin since 2022. Drawing inspiration from renowned artists such as Pablo Picasso, Otto Dix, Salvador Dali, Joan Miro, Max Ernst, Leon Bakst, and Aubrey Beardsley, Masha has cultivated her own distinctive visual language, blending surrealism, symbolism, fauvism, and graphic techniques.

Under the pseudonym "tootooweird", Masha's work stands out for its spontaneity and depth. Each piece is created in a matter of minutes, without sketches or prior planning, resulting in raw and immediate expressions of thought. Her art is rich in visual metaphors, inviting viewers into a dialogue with abstract concepts that provoke personal reflection and subconscious associations.

Primarily working with mixed media, Masha combines pencil drawing, vector design, and various printing methods to create her unique compositions. Currently undergoing an inner artistic transformation, Masha is exploring new styles and media, pushing the boundaries of her creative practice to uncover another dimension of her artistic identity.

Her works invite not only the eye but the mind to wander and interpret, creating a deeply engaging and immersive experience for all who encounter her 'too too weird' art. Masha Msky is open to collaborations

Live music will be heard as DJ Imit will be playing his set for the Vernissage

Check out her website

Cancellation policy

You're free to cancel at any point. Just please let us know, so that we can better plan the evening.

Secure your spot

Register for the event and become a part of our growing community!

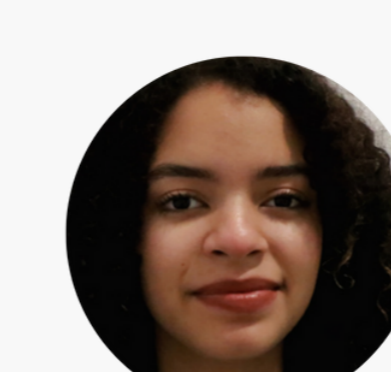

€0

Add to cart

Send messa...

Have questions?

Get in touch with us!

Sydney Brunnschweiler
Community & Events Manager

Email:
sb@thisisdenizen.com

Phone:
+49 157 3002 67 98