

Typically, women described particular locations as well- known for harassment and assault...

One in five people that participated in this study said that they never returned to a location where they experience harassment or violence (Sydney).

