A photograph of a celestial-themed playground. In the background, a large, detailed model of the Moon sits on a raised platform. To the left, a stylized rocket ship with a red nose cone and yellow accents stands on the ground. The playground floor is covered with a dark material featuring a pattern of white stars and crescent moons. Several children are playing: one in a yellow raincoat is near a telescope on the left; a man in a green sweater and tan pants is in the center, holding a pink ball; a child in a blue jumpsuit is running towards him; a girl in a yellow and black argyle dress is on the right, looking up; and another child is in a red toy car on the far right. A large telescope on a tripod is positioned in the middle ground. The ceiling is dark with hanging models of planets and asteroids. A blue geometric structure is visible on the left side of the frame.
